Please have this information handy:

- Your name, address, phone number, birth date, date of hire, Social Security number and your employer's name, address and phone number.
- Date of your claim and when you plan to return to work. If you're pregnant, give your expected delivery date.
- Name, address and phone number of each doctor you are seeing for this absence.

What happens next?

- During the call, we'll ask for your permission to get your medical information. Here's how it works:
- After you give us your claim information, you'll be transferred to a recorded message.
- Listen to the recording and answer "Yes" or "No" to the questions.
- At the end of the recording, say "Yes" if you give permission or "No" if you do not.
- You can cancel your permission at any time by calling your Cigna claim manager.

After the call, Cigna will send you a letter. It'll include a copy of the recorded message for your records. It'll also include a form that gives us permission to get other information we may need to finish processing your claim. Please sign and return that form. Check with your doctor to see if there are any other forms you need to sign.

A Cigna claim manager will call you and your employer for a list of your job requirements. The claim manager will also call your doctor for your medical records. This information will help us figure out how long you may be out of work, and the benefits you may be able to receive.

What happens if my claim is approved?

- Cigna will send you an approval letter that gives you an explanation of your benefits.
- Cigna will tell your employer that we approved your claim, and the date you plan to return to work.

What happens if my claim is denied?

- Cigna will send you a letter that explains why. The letter will also tell you how you can appeal the decision.
- Cigna will let your employer know the claim is denied.
- You should call your employer when you get the letter to discuss your return-to-work date.

GO YOU™

What can I expect while I'm out?

Your Cigna claim manager will stay in touch to help you return to work quickly and safely. We may work with you, your doctor and your employer to talk about different work options. This may include an adjustment to your job or work schedule. Your employer may also call you to check on your progress and offer support.

What if I plan to return to work when my long-term disability benefits end?

Your Cigna claim manager may work with your employer on any return-to-work plans. Your benefit payments will be calculated by the exact date you return to work, and whether or not you return to work part-time or full-time. This will also help determine if you qualify for continued payments.
